THE GAZETTE.

SATURDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 18, 1858

I had not gone far in my rambles about the city before I was brought to a stand by the city before I was brought to a stand by FERTILIZERS a discovery. On both sides of the streets, projecting from the centre of almost every window of the dwelling bouses, each at an angle of 45 degrees with the window, were placed two mirrors of about a foot square each in a vertical position, one facing up the street and the other down. I immediately set my Yankee ingenuity to work to "guess" their object, and was not long in discovering in those mirrors plain indications that here, in this great swamp of Europe, woman's curiosity is the same as a mong verdant bills and more genial climes. The mistress of the bouse seating berself in her parlor in a particular spot before a window, with book, needle or knitting work in hand, has but to lift her eyes into the twin looking-glasses outside her window in order to carch at a glance the whole panorama of the street on both directions. There was also another queer-look ing glass arrangement which, for a long time. puzzled me. The puzzle grew out of the peculiar positions and various angles at which these mirrors were placed. I was about giving it up when, observing that their inclination was always decidedly towards the front door, I saw the whole secret as clear IN BAGS AND BARRELS. A VERY EXas light. The good lady of the house, hea ing the door-bell rieg, darts a lock into the curious mirror, and thereby knows in a moment who stands at the door. Ot course when the door servant comes in her lady-tup can at once say whether she is at home or not. In all the cities of Holland nearly every dwelling house has projecting from its windows from one to ten of those ugly looking mirrors .- Correspordent of the St. Louis Democrat.

CLEARING THE MAIRIMONIAL AIR. Thunder storms appear to be an excellent remedy for matrimonial disputes -- at least in the neighborhood of Yvetot, France, tamous for its monarch. A man and his wife, who had been separated for above a year, had agreed some days ago to meet in that town in order to settle some money matters in presence of a notary. They happened to meet on the road which led from their village to Yvetot, and commenced exchanging sundry compliments, which promised to take a more practical turn, when a tremendous peal of thunder checked the exuberance of their sentiments. Fear succeeded to anger; the woman's tongue wagged fainter, whilst the husband's fist gradually opened. A secand thunder clap reduced both parties to utter passiveness; but when an awful flash of lightning illuminated the sky, the woman lost all self-command, and threw herself on the neck of ber husband, who, apparently equally susceptible to electrical influence. clasped her in his arms, and vowed that nothing should separate them for the future. The reconciled couple turned their backs on the town, and returned to the husband's house in a pacific state of mind, which will, it is boped, resist the counter-influence of sunshine.

RELIEF OF NEURALGIA.

As this dreadful disease is becoming more prevalent than formerly, and as the Doctors have not discovered any method or medicine that will permanently sure it, we will simply state that for some time past, a member of our family has suffered most intensely from it, and could find no sure relief from any remedy applied, until we saw an article which we republished, recommending the apfor the cure of tootbache. As Neuralgia MANUFACTURED BY POTTS & KLETT, and following rates, which is the risk: plication of bruised horse radish to the wrist, and Toothache are both nervous diseases, we thought the remedy for the one would be likely to give relief to the other, so we made the application and were truly gratified that the simple application of horse radish bruised, and applied to the wrist, on the side of the body where the disease was seated, gave almost instant relief to a severe attack of neuralgia. Since then we have applied it several times, with the same results. The remedy is simple, cheap, and may be within reach of every one. - Exchange.

Dame Grundy was a pattern of good nature-always contented, and consequently

'I tell you what it is,' said farmer Grundy, one day, to his neighbor Smith, 'I really wish I could hear Mrs. Grundy scold once: the novelty of the thing would be so refreshing.' 'I'll tell you,' said his sympathising neighbor, 'how to obtain your wish. Go into the woods, get a load of the most crooked sticks you can possibly find, and my word for it, she will be as cross as you desire.' Father Grundy followed his neighbor

Smith's advice. Having collected a load of the most ill-shaped, crooked, crochety materials that were ever known under the name of fuel, he deposited the same at the door, taking good care that his spouse should have access to no other wood. The day passed away, however, and not a word was said; arother, and still another, no complaint. At length the pile disappeared. 'Well, wife,' said Mr. Grundy, 'I am go ing after more wood. I'll get another load just such as I got last time.' 'O, yes Jacob,' said the old lady, 'it will be so nice if you will, for such crooked, crochety wood as you brought before, does lay around
